

Speaker Bio | Maya Cole

A native of Atlanta, Georgia, Cole is a senior majoring in biology with a concentration in secondary education. An aspiring educator, she spent the last two summers interning with TSU's College of Education and as a fellow in the Marjorie Lee Browne STEM Education Fellowship through the Memphis Teacher Residency. She currently serves as chaplain for the Alpha Beta chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho sorority, historian of TSU's Student Tennessee Education Association Teaching Tigers Chapter, and lead residential mentor for the university's Office of Disability Tiger Edge program. Her ultimate goal is to earn a PhD in education policy and find more ways to connect teachers, students, and their communities.
