

Speaker Bio | Mark Yancy

A lifelong Tennessean, Yancy has intentionally devoted his career to the underserved and those most impacted by a lack of access to care and resources. An accomplished health-care administrator, business planner, public speaker, and fundraiser, he has an extensive track record of engaging public and private sector businesses to partner with health-care institutions. At NashvilleHealth, Yancy has built an equity coalition of over 20 public and private organizations across data, academic, health services, food and nutrition, housing, and transit sectors (among others) focused on identifying health disparities in Middle Tennessee and designing solutions to reduce them. Prior to joining NashvilleHealth, he served in a variety of roles at Methodist Le Bonheur Healthcare, Anthem (now Elevance) via its subsidiary CareMore, and DaVita Kidney Care. Yancy holds a master's in public health from the University of Memphis.